Starch strips while pressing to give extra body to the new piece of "strip fabric". Fold "strip fabric" rectangle together lengthwise and trim off selvages. Rectangle should measure approximately 10½" x 42½".
- 2 Measure rectangle, subtract 1" from length and cut fusible fleece to that measurement. Example: rectangle measures 10½" x 42½"; cut fusible fleece 10½" x 41½". Place prepared fleece on wrong side of rectangle ½" from end of "strip fabric". Align outside edges and fuse fleece according to product directions.
- 3 Fold rectangle in half to find center. Mark with pin. Open rectangle, fleece side up draw a line to mark center of measure rectangle. Draw a second line 4½" to the left of the center line and a third line 4½" to the right.
- 4 Place rectangle, fleece side down, on a flat surface. Fold left end of rectangle toward center, right sides together Using a pin align edge of fleece and 4½" marked line. Pin and sew sides together using a ¼" seam allowance. Begin sewing at fold and stop at marked line. Back stitch seam. Repeat for opposite end of rectangle aligning on the second 4½" marked line.

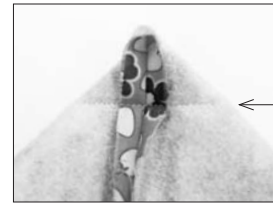

Hint: Sew strips in opposite directions to avoid stretching and distortion.

Make Bottom of Bag

← Stitch 1¼" from point to make corner triangle

Prepare Bag Flap

- 6 Fold rectangle in half fleece side out. Pin and align 4½" lines from Step 3. Fold and pin the loose edge of both pockets away from edge so they will not be caught in seam. Use a CD or a small saucer to mark curve of flap.

← Pin and align 4½"

- 7 Stitch flap using a ¼" seam. Start and stop on marked lines. Back stitch seams. Trim and clip curve.
